

69 put something off; put off doing something

Study

Read these sentences carefully.

- ▶ They've decided to put off their wedding until March.
- ▶ It's very easy to put difficult decisions off.
- ▶ You'll have to go to the dentist eventually. Why keep putting it off?
- ▶ Some couples put off having children until they are older.
- ▶ They were going to start building, but the work has been put off again.

Check

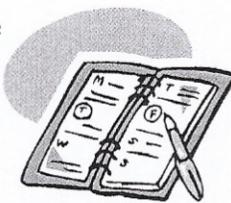

Use the sentences in the Study box to help you do these exercises.

MEANING

Which of these verbs means the same as put something off?

- a to cancel something
- b to delay something
- c to refuse something
- d to prevent something

→ Now check your answers in the key.

GRAMMAR

Which of these are grammatically possible?

- a She put her visit off.
- b She put off her visit.
- c She put it off.
- d She was put off her visit.
- e Her visit was put off.

Practise

1 Rewrite the parts of the sentences in italics so that the meaning stays the same, using a form of put something off or put off doing something and an object (a noun or a pronoun).

a I have no time for the meeting today. Can we leave it until tomorrow?

b This job must be done today – it cannot be delayed any longer.

c I always wait until the last minute to do my work.

d My friends were going to visit today, but now they are coming next weekend.

2 What do you put off? Look at the two examples and write three more sentences that are true for you.

a I hate cleaning the bathroom so I always put it off.

b I never put off paying my bills.

c _____

d _____

e _____

→ Now check your answers in the key.

Build your vocabulary

SYNONYMS

Delay something, delay doing something is more formal:

- ▶ They've decided to delay their wedding until March.